The mission of the University of Colorado Boulder College of Music is to inspire artistry and discovery, together.

The College of Music acknowledges that the university sits upon land within the territories of the Ute, Cheyenne and Arapaho peoples. Further, we acknowledge that 48 contemporary tribal nations are historically tied to Colorado lands.

College of Music's Faculty Tuesdays series celebrates 22 years of community-focused music making

By Ally Dever

CU Boulder's College of Music has been offering free, live faculty performances to the Boulder community for more than two decades.

As part of the long-running Faculty Tuesdays series, professional musicians in the college play concerts every Tuesday during the fall and spring semesters, offering students and community members the opportunity to experience firsthand the renowned talent housed right here on campus.

Daniel Sher, former College of Music Dean, and Joan McLean Braun, assistant dean for concerts and communications and executive director of CU Presents, started the popular Faculty Tuesdays series in 1999. “With this series, the College of Music launched something unique,” Sher said. “There really wasn’t a formal approach to faculty recitals at other schools and colleges at the time.”

But word of the first-of-its-kind series quickly spread to other universities. Sher routinely attended several conferences and roundtables for music deans and directors across the country, and found many of his colleagues at other institutions were inspired by Faculty Tuesdays. Some even expressed interest in similar programs of their own.

“Music deans at other schools would ask how we got such a large audience to the concerts and how we got faculty to participate,” he said.

Since then, several music schools across the country have instituted similar programs, like Yale’s Faculty Artist Series, Arizona State University’s ASU in Concert Series and Michigan State University’s Faculty Recital Series.

Craft and collaboration

Distinguished Professor of Piano David Korevaar has been a frequent performer at Faculty Tuesdays since its inception, participating in over 70 individual performances.

As a world-renowned professional musician who has performed throughout the United States, Europe, Asia, and Central and South America, Korevaar believes Faculty Tuesdays offers something special.

“This is one of the best audiences I play for anywhere in the world,” Korevaar said. “And as performers, that’s what musicians are all about.”

For faculty, the series has served as a platform to practice their craft. It provides them with an appreciative audience and a free venue to try out their material before they take it on the road—an opportunity that’s not offered to most professional musicians.

And, by allowing performers to schedule their slots in advance, it also inspires faculty to plan collaborative performances with colleagues in different departments, bringing a new dimension to the weekly performances.

“With the introduction of Faculty Tuesdays, our professors were less siloed and began to appreciate one another, and learn more about the artistry and abilities of their colleagues,” Sher said.

“It contributed significantly to the climate of collaboration that the college enjoys today and elevated the mutual respect and admiration between our faculty members.”

Unlike other concerts, attendees don't have to drive far and pay expensive fees to hear professional quality music.

Chris Brauchli, a violinist and longtime donor to the College of Music, has attended Faculty Tuesday performances since the series' inception.

“The quality and level of the talent continues to blossom, and it makes the concerts superb,” he said. “It’s a real treat for people who live here to be able to hear these performances for free on a weekly basis.”

The College of Music relies on community donations to continue to host Faculty Tuesdays.

To encourage others to donate, Brauchli has been known for his “magic envelope” bit on occasional Tuesday events. Formerly inserted in each hardcopy program, there was an envelope for voluntary donations.*

“As a joke, I’ve pointed out that attendees can tear it off, throw it away and it becomes trash,” he said. “Or, they can put money inside, mail it back to the college and it becomes gold.”

Program notes

Margaret Marco is the Professor of Oboe at the University of Kansas and principal oboist of the Kansas City Chamber Orchestra. Her career began as the principal oboist of the Orquesta Sinfónica de Maracaibo in Venezuela and has since taken her around the globe. She has performed and taught master classes at Central and China Conservatories in Beijing; the Festival of New American Music in Sacramento, California; New Frontiers Music Festival in Laramie, Wyoming; the Sunflower Music Festival in Topeka, KS; Encuentro de Oboes y Fagots, in Costa Rica and many International Double Reed Society Conferences. She served as Chair of the IDRS Fernand Gillet-Hugo Fox Oboe Competition from 2008-2019.

A strong advocate for new music for the oboe, Dr. Marco has received grants from the National Endowment for the Arts, the Mid-America Arts Alliance, Mu Phi Epsilon and the University of Kansas to commission, perform and record new chamber works by American composers. As a member of the flute, oboe and piano trio Allégresse, Dr. Marco can be heard on the CDs Allégresse; music for flute, oboe and piano and Fresh Ink. She has presented her lecture/recital Hidden Gems: Music for Oboe and Bass Continuo by Eighteenth-Century French Composers at several prestigious universities and conferences in the States and abroad. Her CD of the same title was released in January of 2009 to critical acclaim. She can be heard performing Quiet City by Aaron Copland with the University of Kansas Wind Ensemble for the NAXOS label and the music of Ingrid Stölzel and Juliana Hall on NAVONA Records. She performed the world premiere of A Siege of Herons for oboe d'amore, strings and percussion by Forrest Pierce with the Kansas City Chamber Orchestra in April 2016, a work she commissioned with a generous grant from the Mid-America Arts Alliance. Her most recent CD is entitled Still Life and features new music for oboe, oboe d'amore and English horn by Kansas composers.
